Outwood Village Meeting Climate Change Emergency

Lloyd Hall
Monday 25th November 2019
at 7.30pm

Come and hear how residents of Outwood can join together to help tackle the Climate Change emergency, declared by the UK government and local councils around the country.

A speaker from 10:10 (1010uk.org) will be giving a positive and inspiring talk about how we can make a difference individually and as a community, giving examples of communities locally and in the UK who have come together to work on projects that make a difference.

There will be a Q&A session at the end and a chance for residents to share any ideas they may have.

This is an issue that spans all generations and we hope you can join us.

Refreshments will be provided!

CHURCH NEWS

Rector's Ramblings

For everything there is a season, a time for every matter under the sun. So says the sage in the biblical book of Ecclesiastes. In the late 1950s Pete Seeger made a song out of these words called Turn! Turn! Turn! (To Everything There Is a Season) made popular in the 1960s by the group The Byrds.

October always feels to me a 'turning' sort of month. For a start there's the turning back of the clocks. There is also the turning over of the fields by the plough, following the harvest in September and the turning of the leaves from their summer colours to their autumn ones – the turning of the seasons as the song says. And talking of colour, looking out of the window from my desk as I write this letter, I see the wonderful reds of the apples on the trees I planted when I moved into the Rectory, intermingled with the brighter reds of the rose hips growing next to them, the whole scene bathed in dappled sunlight! Somehow it is so evocative of the end of summer and the beginning of autumn.

And looking out on the trees reminds me of something that I wrote in one of the guided walk leaflets that I produced last year for St John the Baptist Church (you can pick them up in the church porch). When I begin to talk about the walk, I say You could walk it in a quarter of an hour but the idea is to walk more slowly, taking in the sights and sounds and considering the thoughts that arise from them. Then later I invite people to stop and look at an old oak behind the church:

Pause for a moment and stand still. Imagine the acorn from which it grew. You were once the size of an acorn, before you were born. Reflect on how you have grown and be aware of your feelings. Look at the tree, it's been there a long time, seen the seasons come and go. What season is it now for the tree? And what spiritual season is it for you at this point in your life – one of sowing or reaping, a fruitful time or barren time, a time of bright sunshine or dark cloud?

I've found myself reflecting on that a lot just recently, particularly because I've just met up with a group of people I was at theological college with 36 years ago, some of whom I haven't seen since then. We are all clergy in different parts of the world! One of the things that struck me was that although we are obviously all a lot older now, we were all still the same people and sitting in our old college common room, it was as if time hadn't passed at all.

CHURCH NEWS

One of the group (who is the same age as me) said how he had noticed that as he got older he was wanting to reconnect with his past more. I could identify with that and I think that perhaps it's connected to the fact that we are both, so to speak, in the autumn season of our lives. I wonder how you feel about reconnecting with your past – you may feel the same but I could also understand that you might feel quite differently, not just because you might feel in a different season but also because of how you might feel about your own particular past.

However you might feel I would just like to leave you with some words of Theresa of Avila which I often come back to in this turning, changing world:

*Let nothing frighten you;
All things pass:
God never changes.*

With love and prayers

Nicholas

Christmas Tree Festival

Sat/Sun 14/15 December

St. John's Church, Outwood

It's six years since the last Christmas Tree Festival was held, and this year it's being revived, so we need lots of people to sign up to decorate a tree, with the theme of your choice.

You will be supplied with a five foot tree, in the Church, to be decorated on Friday 13 December, and the display will be open for most of the week-end, alongside the Christmas Fair on Saturday 14th, and accompanied throughout by festive refreshments.

The undecorated trees will be for sale at the end of the festival, so even if you aren't decorating one, you may like to reserve one for your family celebrations.

PLEASE help us to make the festival a success.

Any queries, or to book your tree, please email Helen on

SEPTEMBER MEETINGS

Our members are always busy creating and sharing their knowledge with others. The Outwood Show run by the Horticultural Society took place last month on a lovely sunny afternoon and on display were many offerings from those who are part of our WI community: flowers and vegetables grown; jams, cakes and savoury pies cooked, needlework and knitted items designed and made; paintings skilfully created. Top prizes for the creative item (a painted scene of a cricket match) and the tallest sunflower grown went to two of our members: Sylvia Maiklem and Jackie Belither.

In the craft tent, there were demonstrations by our members of many skills, including clay work and felting, while unsuspecting younger members of the public were coerced into trying their knitting skills!

It was time to develop our cooking skills at this month's meeting as we were treated to a demonstration by Gill Potterton of Glorious Foods Ltd. With very little fuss – and skilful avoidance of a persistent wasp which was determined to get into the ingredients - she prepared and assembled a tasty seasonal menu of warm salad (with roasted squash and lentils), blue cheese, pear and cobnut tart, a crunchy colourful coleslaw and a spicy apple and gingerbread pudding.

Many of the ingredients were grown locally, and having experienced the enticing smells as she prepared this feast, we were all more than happy to sample it!

As we approach autumnal weather, we look forward to more fun trips and monthly club activities. Our next meeting is on 1st October, when we shall be hearing about the history of the Bonfire Societies from Christine Varnham – very seasonal and interesting.

NATURE WATCH

The weather stayed fine for the Horticultural and village show, which returned to its roots this year lending a warm, local and friendly feel to the whole event. It was also good to see so much interest shown in the display of photographs used in this column over the last twelve years and the appreciation of the wealth of wild plants and other wildlife we are so lucky to be able to enjoy in Outwood. This richness of our environment was further highlighted by a recent botanical survey report, kindly copied to me by Andy Wright, area manager for the National Trust. The report showed one field, that has been surveyed for a number of years, contained over 160 species. Over a three year period the significant species identified showed the field to be of national importance and on the basis of the current year survey to be an Important Arable Plant Area of county importance.

Set against the background of the 97% reduction of wild flower meadows since the second world war came yet another bit of good news recently with the discovery of one more wildflower new to Outwood Common in the form of Sneezewort (Achillea ptarmica). Sneezewort is a member of the aster family and has attractive, white, daisy like flowers in June to August and grows to between 30-60cms. It is also known as Bastard Pillitory, White Tansy and Fair Maid of France.

Sneezewort is related to yarrow and like a number of other wild flowers such as foxglove, buttercups, deadly nightshade, box, privet and of course the villain of the piece common ragwort is poisonous to horses, cattle and sheep.

Over the past couple of years media reports have referred to various new insects arriving in the UK or new fungal infections of our woodland and garden trees and shrubs, possibly as a result of warmer weather conditions. The box and lavender beetles are causing major problems for gardeners and growers. The horse chestnut leaf minor may not kill the trees but must weaken them. The Asian hornet (Vespa velutina), which is smaller than our native hornet, is reported to be of no particular threat to humans but can be devastating for bees and other pollinating insects and if sighted should be reported to DEFRA - one of the most recent cases was in Ashford in Kent in September. Ash die-back disease, which is now affecting a large number of trees throughout our local woodlands, is caused by a wind-borne fungal infection. Its progress has been slow but gradually its effects are becoming more and more pronounced with top branches going bare of leaves and whole branches dying. With the National Trust as the largest landowner in the village it will be good to hear if and when a tree planting programme is to start. Still on the subject of trees the latest threat is the oak processionary moth (Thormetopoea processionea), which is a pest of oak trees and a hazard to human and animal health. Paul Collis, retired senior forester with the National Trust, has been particularly concerned and took the trouble to distribute leaflets at the village show warning of the danger caused by the moth's caterpillars. The caterpillars develop small hairs which contain an irritant that can cause allergic reactions in people and animals and the risk of exposure is highest in May and June. Hairs are shed when the caterpillars are disturbed and are blown by the wind.

OUTWOOD PARISH COUNCIL

SEPTEMBER MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

Tandridge District (TDC) Councillor (Cllr) Kevin Bourne advised that nothing is able to be done about the abandoned van on Rookery Hill until the Tax and MOT runs out even though it's not insured.

Sawmills (Tone) lost the 1st request that went to appeal and the building has now gone. Tone have submitted new applications but the planning officer is unable to process these at the moment as he has other priorities. Cllr Bourne will continue to observe the matter. The Parish Clerk will contact Surrey County Councillor Rose Thorn to ask Surrey Highways to submit comments to the planning appeals.

National Trust (NT) ran a workshop at the village show building bird and bat boxes – very successful. A plan to extend the NT the footpath so it's circular requires funding.

MUGA/Wells Field - The mowing needs some consideration. Cllr Wyer has been looking for a new contractor. One quote received is £75 per cut.

Village Show – David Crittall reported few issues but a few matters need consideration for future shows including the layout which needs looking at. Visitor numbers of approximately 499 paying adults and lots of children (free entry). Please see elsewhere in this edition for more about the show. David and the team were congratulated for arranging a very enjoyable day.

Tandridge DC are looking to rationalise the use of waste bins – We will request additional 'dog waste' bins.

Highways – Cllrs Howard & Baldock met a Surrey Ramblers representative with a view to replacing stiles with kissing gates to make the footpaths more accessible. Funding will need to be sought.

Community Matters - Trim trail may cost between 5-10k Cllr Howard to continue investigating.

Next Meeting: Tuesday 1st October at 8pm in the Church Room

Please note revised date.

We would love to see more residents at our meetings

MEMBERS OF THE PUBLIC ARE INVITED TO ATTEND THIS MEETING

COMMUNITY SPEEDWATCH

The volunteers have continued to mount monitoring sessions through August and September with generally good results. Traffic volumes were not down that much and several vehicles were registered at between 50mph & 60mph in our 40mph limited roads, (with one at 58mph on Millers Lane - limit 30mph).

Although the bulk of recordings were in the high 40s, a significant majority of motorists were only slightly above the limit. Hopefully that shows that the Surrey Police 'Speedwatch' initiative is succeeding in controlling speeds.

October is now our last chance of good light conditions.

OUTWOOD NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH

SEPTEMBER REPORT

I'm delighted to report that after a long vacancy, Little Collins now has a Neighbourhood Watch Coordinator. Alice Love has kindly agreed to take over responsibility for the street. If you live on Little Collins I'm sure you'll be hearing from her soon.

The Neighbourhood Watch information cascade has continued to work well over the summer and together we've helped reunite a lost cat with its owners and disseminated information about some dangerous dogs that injured a local cat and his owners.

National Trust

After our busy Summer of repair work, bridge construction work, butterfly and dragonfly surveying, and veteran tree surveying. It's that time of year again that our chainsaws see a great deal more use, as the Outwood Volunteers spend a large proportion of the autumn and winter months carrying out woodland management work. It being the best time of year to do this, as it's outside of the bird nesting season and the trees are beginning to enter their dormant stage.

Many of the woodland areas around the Harewoods Estate were previously planted up with young trees which, as they grow up, need thinning out to allow enough space for the remaining trees to successfully develop. As well as giving us the opportunity to create glades and widen paths, whilst at the same time giving some of the paths more wavy, scalloped edges. Which not only makes them appear more natural, but also creates important micro climates for many species, giving us greater diversity of flora and fauna. All of which makes for an even more wonderful experience for us when we take a wander in the woods.

Hopefully you'll also spot some of our waymarker posts that we're planning on installing soon around Outwood Common and Hornecourt Wood. Showing the routes of a couple of self-guided trails, which are shown on our display board maps at our car parks as well as on the National Trust webpage for Harewoods.
